The 2018 Mach Pinot Nero is gorgeous. The bouquet alone has me at the edge of my seat, gaining richness over time and displaying a perfumed mix of bright cherry, strawberry, wild herbs, moist soil and smoky minerals. It's round and soothing in the mouth, showing fleshy red fruits with a hint of savory spice, all enlivened by juicy acids. Grippy tannins linger long throughout the spicy finale, along with a hint of tart wild berries. This is beautiful now and sure to get even better after a few years in the cellar.
