

Fossacolle Brunello di Montalcino DOCG 2015
Fossacolle

PAIRS WITH

SCORE

93

The Fossacolle 2015 Brunello di Montalcino shows a prominent mineral note of crushed stone and talc powder. It becomes a fitting segue to more typical aromas of wild berry fruit and balsam herbs. There is some firmness or tannic bite on the close that suggests extra cellar aging is required. Even just a few years should be enough to shave it off. This wine is tightly coiled and inward-looking at this early stage in the game. The finish is structured and angular, but it just needs to open.

Monica Larner
Wine Advocate, January 2020

Follow us at @viaswine

Fossacolle Brunello di Montalcino DOCG 2015
Fossacolle

PAIRS WITH

SCORE

93

The Fossacolle 2015 Brunello di Montalcino shows a prominent mineral note of crushed stone and talc powder. It becomes a fitting segue to more typical aromas of wild berry fruit and balsam herbs. There is some firmness or tannic bite on the close that suggests extra cellar aging is required. Even just a few years should be enough to shave it off. This wine is tightly coiled and inward-looking at this early stage in the game. The finish is structured and angular, but it just needs to open.

Monica Larner
Wine Advocate, January 2020

Follow us at @viaswine

Fossacolle Brunello di Montalcino DOCG 2015
Fossacolle

PAIRS WITH

SCORE

93

The Fossacolle 2015 Brunello di Montalcino shows a prominent mineral note of crushed stone and talc powder. It becomes a fitting segue to more typical aromas of wild berry fruit and balsam herbs. There is some firmness or tannic bite on the close that suggests extra cellar aging is required. Even just a few years should be enough to shave it off. This wine is tightly coiled and inward-looking at this early stage in the game. The finish is structured and angular, but it just needs to open.

Monica Larner
Wine Advocate, January 2020

Follow us at @viaswine

Fossacolle Brunello di Montalcino DOCG 2015
Fossacolle

PAIRS WITH

SCORE

93

The Fossacolle 2015 Brunello di Montalcino shows a prominent mineral note of crushed stone and talc powder. It becomes a fitting segue to more typical aromas of wild berry fruit and balsam herbs. There is some firmness or tannic bite on the close that suggests extra cellar aging is required. Even just a few years should be enough to shave it off. This wine is tightly coiled and inward-looking at this early stage in the game. The finish is structured and angular, but it just needs to open.

Monica Larner
Wine Advocate, January 2020

Follow us at @viaswine

