The 2019 Gagliole is 100% Sangiovese from estate vineyards in Panzano. The natural richness of Panzano and extra kick of new French oak yields a wine of volume and textural intensity. Succulent dark cherry, plum, tobacco, incense, mocha, sweet oak, mint and dried flowers are front and center. There's plenty of immediacy here. I have a slight preference for the more refined expression of Sangiovese found in the Gallule. The 2019 spent 12 months in French oak, 25-30% new, then another 12 months in 12HL casks and cement, 50% each.
