The 2018 Valpolicella Classico Superiore Ripasso I Progni lifts up dusty in character, as crushed rocks give way to shavings of cedar and sweet cherry and wild berries. Its textures are silky and enveloping, with ripe red and hints of blue fruits complemented by sweet herbs and spices, as brisk acids maintain a high-energy feel throughout. There is a subtle tinge of detectable heat; still, the 2018 tapers off incredibly fresh and leaves the mouth watering for more.
