Masses of medicinal cherries give way to dusty rose, brown spice and mocha as the 2017 Amarone della Valpolicella Classico La Marega blossoms in the glass. This impresses with its silky and elegant textures that find wonderful lift through vibrant acidity. Its fruits are red and blue-toned with hints of cocoa and sweet violet florals that arch across the palate. This leaves hints of vanilla custard and mocha to linger incredibly long, while finishing lightly structured. The 2017 is a more fruit-forward style, but also a very nicely balanced effort for the vintage.
