

Barbaresco DOC 2018

Produttori Del
Barbaresco

PAIRS WITH

SCORE

92

The 2018 Barbaresco is an attractive, open-knit wine to drink now and over the next 10-15 years, maybe more. In 2018 the Produttori did not bottle their Riservas. Instead, all of the best lots of those grapes went into the straight Barbaresco bottling, another in a long string of successes from this historic house. Dark cherry, cedar, tobacco and spice fill out the layers. There is good depth and a good deal of tannin too, just not the complexity or nuance of the very best years.

Antonio Galloni
Vinous Media, February 2022

Follow us at @viaswine

Barbaresco DOC 2018

Produttori Del
Barbaresco

PAIRS WITH

SCORE

92

The 2018 Barbaresco is an attractive, open-knit wine to drink now and over the next 10-15 years, maybe more. In 2018 the Produttori did not bottle their Riservas. Instead, all of the best lots of those grapes went into the straight Barbaresco bottling, another in a long string of successes from this historic house. Dark cherry, cedar, tobacco and spice fill out the layers. There is good depth and a good deal of tannin too, just not the complexity or nuance of the very best years.

Antonio Galloni
Vinous Media, February 2022

Follow us at @viaswine

Barbaresco DOC 2018

Produttori Del
Barbaresco

PAIRS WITH

SCORE

92

The 2018 Barbaresco is an attractive, open-knit wine to drink now and over the next 10-15 years, maybe more. In 2018 the Produttori did not bottle their Riservas. Instead, all of the best lots of those grapes went into the straight Barbaresco bottling, another in a long string of successes from this historic house. Dark cherry, cedar, tobacco and spice fill out the layers. There is good depth and a good deal of tannin too, just not the complexity or nuance of the very best years.

Antonio Galloni
Vinous Media, February 2022

Follow us at @viaswine

Barbaresco DOC 2018

Produttori Del
Barbaresco

PAIRS WITH

SCORE

92

The 2018 Barbaresco is an attractive, open-knit wine to drink now and over the next 10-15 years, maybe more. In 2018 the Produttori did not bottle their Riservas. Instead, all of the best lots of those grapes went into the straight Barbaresco bottling, another in a long string of successes from this historic house. Dark cherry, cedar, tobacco and spice fill out the layers. There is good depth and a good deal of tannin too, just not the complexity or nuance of the very best years.

Antonio Galloni
Vinous Media, February 2022

Follow us at @viaswine

