The NV Gavi Brut La Meirana opens with a delicate display of fresh apples, incense and nuances of dried peaches. It's silky in texture with a tropical feel to the sour citrus fruits and exotic spices within. Residual acids slowly fizzle out through the finale, leaving hints of grapefruit and green sour patch candies through the finale. Something to note is that this was submitted as a 2018 vintage wine, yet I see no identifying marks or lot numbers on the bottle.
